Wage Subsidy Reinstatement: February 2022 Extension

Overview

With the border opening from January 13 for vaccinated visitors from New Zealand, the Cook Islands Government is extending the Wage Subsidy through to the end of February. This support has the aim of supporting the continuing employment of staff in the private sector and ensuring that the link between employers and employees is maintained, assisting business in through the return of tourism and recognizing that it will take some time before business returns to a sustainable level.

The following document outlines the financial support provided via the Wage Subsidy Reinstatement at the minimum wage for a 40-hour week for employers affected by COVID-19, for the month of February 2022.

These measures will continue from the Wage Subsidy Reinstatement ongoing in January 2022, pushing out the end of the program by an extra month.

Estimated total cost

The estimated total cost of the reinstatement of the Wage Subsidy initiative is $4.0 million for the month of February 2022.

Wage subsidy

Objective

The wage subsidy measure is designed to ensure that employers keep their staff on the payroll and to keep business going as best as possible under the current circumstances.

About the wage subsidy

An employee wage subsidy based on the minimum wage for a 40-hour week will be made available to eligible businesses:

- $320 per week for a full-time employee working 20 hours per week or more;
- $160 per week for a part-time employee working between 5 and 19 hours per week.

The wage subsidy reinstatement payments will continue to be made monthly, continuing from the existing subsidy which is payable for the period to 31 January 2022. Total payments will be based on the number of staff employed by your business, and their hours worked, at the time of each application.

If an employee has more than one employer they will be eligible for a maximum of one full-time and one part-time wage subsidy.

Who can access the wage subsidy?

If you received a wage subsidy in January 2021 or February 2021 you will be eligible to receive a February 2022 wage subsidy based on the number of employees in your November or December 2021 CINSF declaration.

If you did not receive a January 2021 or February 2021 wage subsidy, RMD will conduct an assessment of your eligibility to receive a wage subsidy based on a 30% reduction in revenue for January 2022 compared to January 2020 for the February 2022 wage subsidy.

Whether or not your business received a December 2021 or January 2022 wage subsidy, you can apply for the February 2022 wage subsidy once you have submitted your January 2022 CINSF declaration. RMD will conduct an assessment of eligibility to receive a wage subsidy based on a 30% reduction in revenue for January 2022 compared to January 2020. If you were not operating in January 2020, an alternative can be used (see below).

Applications for February wage subsidies will be available from 01 February 2022 unless an update is announced.

Who is eligible?

To qualify for this measure:

- Your business must be registered with the Revenue Management Division (Revenue Management) of the Ministry of Finance and Economic Management and CINSF, and operating in the Cook Islands.
- Your business must have at least one employee receiving the wage subsidy
- Your employees must be legally working and present in the Cook Islands.
- If your business received the wage subsidy in January 2021 or February 2021 you are automatically eligible to apply for the month of February 2022. If your business did not receive the wage subsidy in these months, you can still apply for the wage subsidy for February 2022 – provided you can demonstrate a reduction in revenue of 30% compared to January 2022 and meet the criteria listed above.
- If you were not operating during the relevant period of 2019, or your business has been substantially restructured, your income will be compared with the last full calendar month of operation, in which the border was open.
- VAT returns must be submitted monthly prior to payment.
- Your business must have paid its PAYE payments for the months from August to December, and for each month immediately prior to the payment month, should the subsidy be further extended.
- Your business must have paid its CINSF employer and employee contributions for each month prior to subsidy payment month.
- Your company directors will be able receive the wage subsidy at the full-time rate if they had not previously been treated as employees. For this to occur, they must be added as an employee and your 2019 income tax return must be filed with RMD showing the payment of director's fees.
- Business partnerships are eligible for the wage subsidy at the part time rate but only if partnership income is the primary source of income for the partners. Your 2019 income tax returns for the partnership and partners must be filed with RMD so we can confirm that partnership income is the primary source of income.
- All businesses are required to submit their 2020 PAYE reconciliation to be eligible to receive the wage subsidy from September 2021.
- Sole traders are not eligible for wage subsidy support, unless they are also employing staff and operating prior to 31 July 2021.

How to apply

The application process for this measure is as follows:

- The employer must login to their CINSF account and apply for the wage subsidy online, providing all necessary information as instructed.
- Once verified, payment will be made directly to the employer's account.
- The employer must deduct PAYE and CINSF contributions and transfer net payments to employees.

- The employer must submit a declaration of CINSF contributions through their CINSF account before the next payment is released. If additional employees have been taken on during the month, these should be added. Payment of contributions must also be made.
- The employer must submit PAYE declarations, and make payment to CINSF and RMD before the next payment is released.

Employers are required to continue to pay their staff, at or above the minimum wage. If your employees are earning more than the minimum wage, you can continue to pay them at their normal wage rate, this payment is not required in addition, but is to ensure that you have the funds available to pay your workers.

You will be required to declare the number of employees still requiring the wage subsidy to allow for adjustments in future payments. If you have added new staff and meet the relevant criteria, your wage subsidy will increase accordingly. If you have workers that have been redeployed to other employers, you are not required to submit a request for the wage subsidy on their behalf, they will be paid via their new employer.

All applications for the wage subsidy will be assessed by Revenue Management. If you have queries please contact them by email at tax.info@cookislands.gov.ck and enter "Wage Subsidy Reinstatement" in the subject line
